

EvoPoreHRC® Premium Comfort Foam

Excellent Sleeping Comfort, Throughout the Night – For Years to Come

Comfortable Sleep Made Easy

Comfort is key when it comes to getting a good night's sleep. The basis of this comfort is the mattress and the material it is made from.

EvoPoreHRC is a highly elastic polyurethane foam that meets very high comfort requirements and thus ensures outstanding sleep and optimal relaxation and regeneration. Following on from Standard-PUR and HR foams, EvoPoreHRC is now redefining the range of premium comfort foams. HRC (high resilience climate) foam is a highly elastic mattress foam with revolutionary climate resilience and excellent comfort characteristics.

Low Weight

EvoPoreHRC is a real lightweight. This premium comfort foam is up to 30 % lighter than conventional HR foams but still provides consistently high support and material stability.

Excellent Support

Conventional HR foams or latex can lose firmness when exposed to heat and moisture and therefore offer significantly less support. EvoPoreHRC is different – it maintains outstanding support all night long and over many years thanks to its superior climate consistency.

Outstanding Material Stability

The consistently high sleeping comfort is also made possible by the material stability of the foam. Conventional HR foams or latex can lose stability when exposed to extreme climatic conditions. In comparison, EvoPoreHRC remains up to 40 % more stable.

Sustainability

EvoPoreHRC reduces the carbon footprint thanks to CO<sub>2</sub>-reduced production and minimal use of raw materials during manufacturing. Up to 30 % more material would need to be used to provide the same product performance using conventional foams (e.g. HR foams).

Real Values

EvoPoreHRC is a premium mattress foam that provides real values. Excellent sleeping comfort, exceptional adaptability, and lasting support ensure outstanding sleep and optimal relaxation and regeneration.
