

StandardPUR Comfort Foam

Proven Sleeping Comfort for Universal Demands

Proven Comfort for Good Sleep

Resting comfort plays a decisive role when it comes to getting a good night's sleep. The mattress core is the heart of every mattress, and the right choice of material can decisively influence sleep.

StandardPUR is a high-quality standard comfort foam. It is part of the polyether foam product group from the first generation and is characterized by its versatile areas of application and its reliability. Its development and production more than 60 years ago was the start of a series of new, innovative, and varied comfort and premium foams.

FoamPartner was one of the first manufacturers to produce StandardPUR foam and use it for sleep-related products. Over the years, the standard comfort foam from FoamPartner was constantly developed and today remains in high demand in many application areas. Its solid qualities fulfill universal comfort requirements and make it a great all-round talent.

StandardPUR comfort foam is very solid thanks to its lasting material stability. StandardPUR foams are a good choice to fulfill conventional comfort requirements. They are hard-wearing, stable and comfortable. With excellent durability, good climate regulation and reliability over many years, they offer good resting comfort and good value for money.

Proven Durability

StandardPUR comfort foam is very sturdy thanks to its lasting material stability. It offers consistently high resting comfort for many years.

Good Climate Regulation

The breathable StandardPUR foam stands out thanks to its good climate regulation. High air permeability and good moisture wicking are guaranteed by its homogeneous and open-cell pore structure. For a pleasant sleeping climate, night after night.

Very Reliable and Robust

StandardPUR foams are very reliable and robust thanks to the properties of the PUR polyether-based material. They thus help actively support high resting comfort and proven durability.

Real Values

StandardPUR from foam pioneer FoamPartner is a comfort foam with real values. The proven material stability, good climate regulation, and high reliability and durability make it a versatile all-round foam. It features impressive classic comfort for a refreshing and relaxing sleep.
